

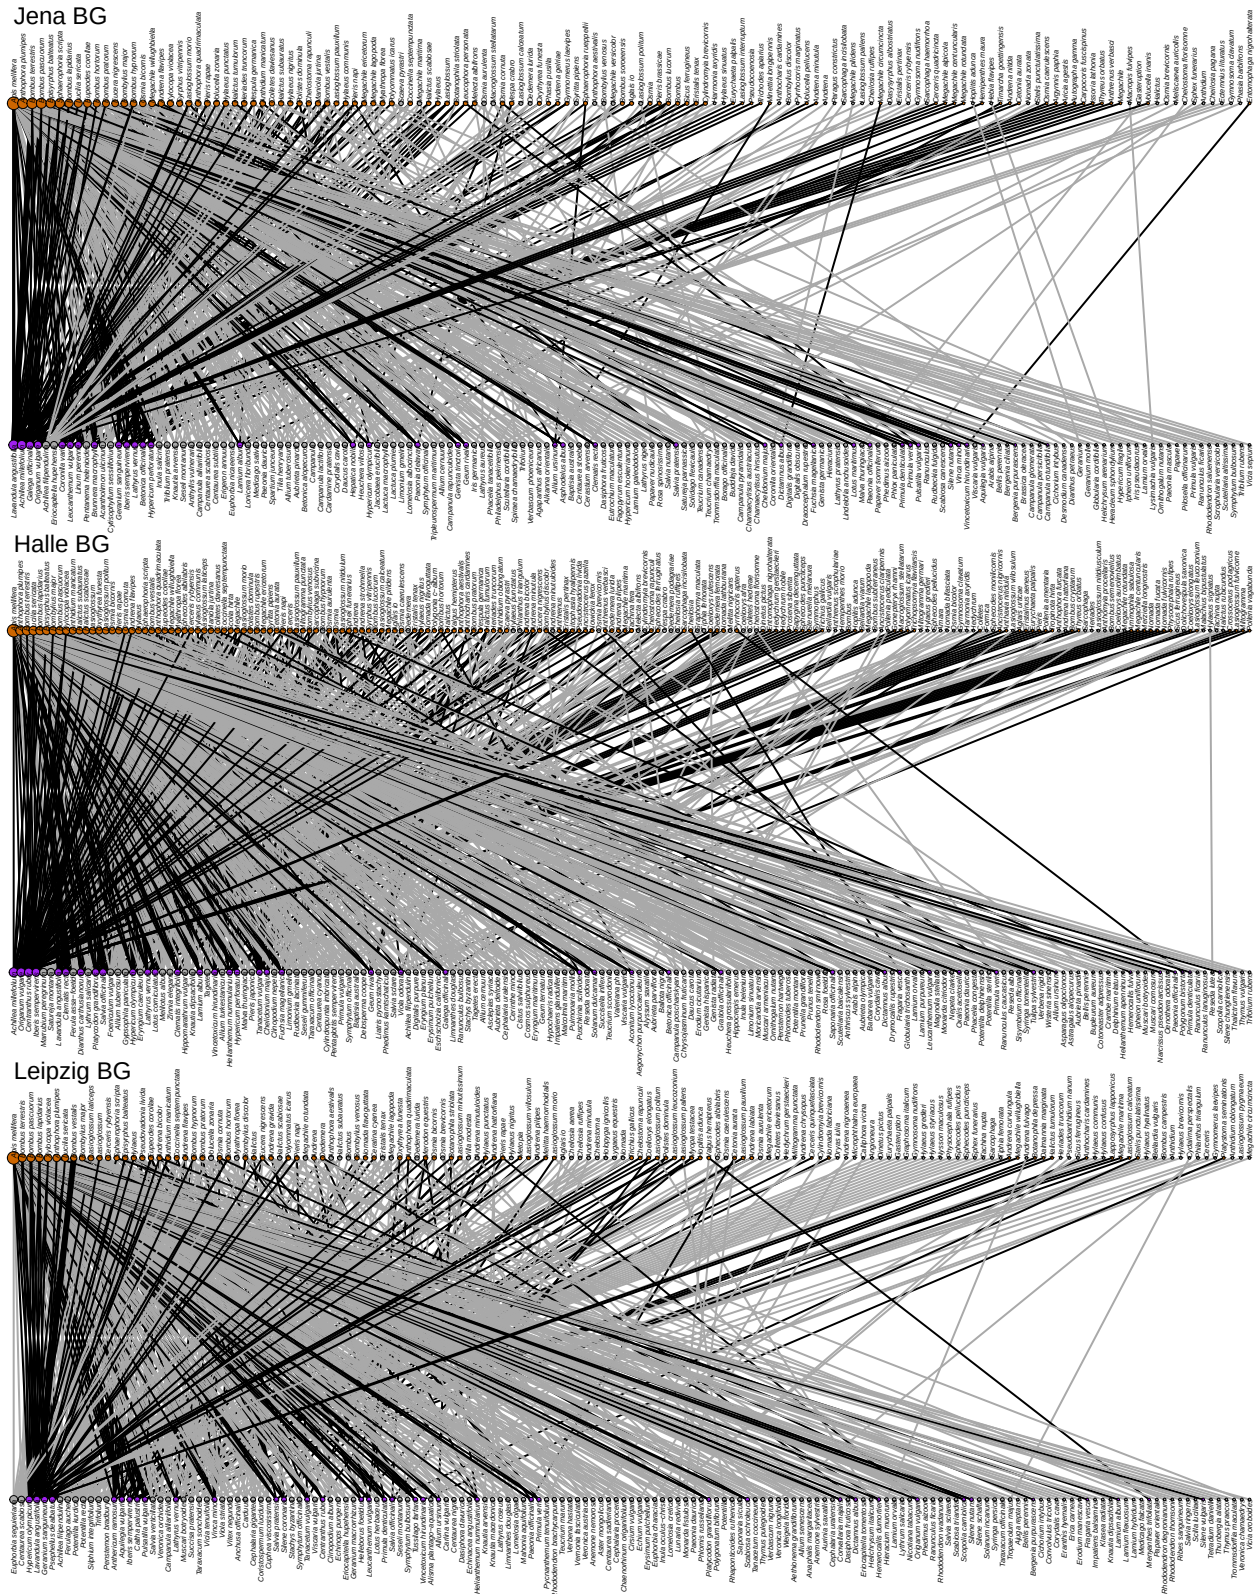

Figure S1. Plant-pollinator networks of the botanical gardens from Jena, Halle and Leipzig from the flowering season 2023. Plants from the PhenObs project are coloured in purple, their links in black and the pollinators visiting those species in orange. The remaining species and their links in gray, which represent the observations of the random stops across the garden.